

CleanMed Europe 2016

The 5th CleanMed Europe Conference - UN City, Copenhagen, 19th-21st October 2016

Health Care Without Harm Europe is pleased to invite you to CleanMed Europe 2016 at the UN City, Copenhagen, Denmark. This conference will look at the processes of creating health through sustainable development.

CleanMed Europe is Europe's leading conference on sustainable healthcare. The conference provides the optimal platform to hear about the latest industry trends, discuss diverse topics, and network with international thought leaders.

- Discover cutting-edge sustainable healthcare practices
- Speak about your topic of expertise
- Position yourself against other forerunners
- Introduce your project/product in 3 'speed dating' market lounge rounds
- Network with professionals across the healthcare spectrum
- Present a poster to share your research or case study

HCWH and the UN have a long working relationship, dating back to 2002, including collaborations with the WHO, UNDP, and UNEP on healthcare waste, mercury substitution, climate change, and green procurement.

The UN City in Copenhagen is the healthcare procurement hub for the UN globally, giving you the opportunity to be in contact not only with European healthcare procurers, but also with UN procurement experts based in the city.

Alongside our main programme of workshops and presentations, there will be tours through the UN City and visits to local hospitals before the conference.

The city and venue are an ideal setting to discuss the latest industry trends and evoke cutting edge ideas.

We look forward to realising another inspiring CleanMed Europe with you, as we work together to drive the sustainability movement in healthcare forward.
